LOCAL REALTOR ANNOUNCES REAL ESTATE SALES

Bay View Court. Rapidly Growing As Residential Section.
R. Terrell Perkins, local realtor informs The Echo that he has closed the following real estate sale, the new Bungalow No. 3 in Bay View Court, built and sold since Sept. 1939 to Mrs. Rhea Bonck for $3,000.00.

"This is proof that there is a great demand for new, modern homes and the confidence that Mr. A. C. Exnicios has in Bay St. Louis," said Mr. Perkins.

Another sale by Mr. Perkins was that of the dwelling at 121 Carroll avenue, 3-bed room home on lot 100 ft. by 89 feet, to T. T. Robin of Waveland, who is going to make this place his future home. This property was sold for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation for the amount of $3,000.00.

Hancock Free Library In Receipt of Books From Henry Ford.

The Hancock County W. P. A. Free Library is in receipt of a set of the McGuffey Readers—primer through sixth reader—which is a gift from Henry Ford.

We hope our friends realize what an outstanding factor the library is and how widely we are known.

Another shipment was received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Books received to date are: Denmark, by Peter Manniche, A Social Laboratory. It tells us in informal conversational style just what the Danes are doing through cooperative societies, folk high schools and attention to general social conditions to make their people as free and independent as it is possible to be.

Modern England by Cicely Hamilton, which gives a very fair and balanced picture of conditions in England two years ago.

"The Menace" by Mona Gardner. It deals with the lands and peoples of Indo-China, Thailand, and (Siam), Malaya, Java, and India and gives the reader an intimate impression of these far away countries and of the daily lives of the individuals who inhabit them.

Caribbean Cruise by John W. Vandercreek. This is a delightful book. Also Mrs. Katherine Ashe, of New York, who is stopping at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans, presented the library with a copy of "Winged Thoughts," a book of poems written by Mrs. Ashe.

Honorable L. C. Corban, Circuit Judge:
We the grand jury empaneled at and for the regular March, 1940, term of the Circuit Court of Hancock County, beg to make this report:

We have been in session three days, have examined 41 witnesses, and have returned 5 indictments, indicting 14 persons.

We have inspected the courthouse and jail and find same in good condition, in fact, we feel that the sheriff is doing an excellent job in keeping the courthouse and jail in a clean and sanitary condition. We find also that the sheriff's office is giving good service in the enforcement of the criminal laws, and we desire to compliment Mr. Kergosien, the sheriff, and his chief deputy, Mr. F. J. Bopp, for the valuable assistance they have rendered the grand jury. We also desire to thank Mr. G. V. Price, Constable of Beat No. Five, for the valuable assistance he has rendered during our investigations.

We inspected the County Poorhouse and found same in good shape and well kept.

We inspected the books of the sheriff and tax collector and so far as we are able to tell the same are properly kept.

In several cases investigated by us at this time we have been unable to return indictments but have passed same to the next grand jury for further evidence.

We have finished the business before us, and ask to be discharged.

Respectfully submitted,
LEO G. FORD
Foreman.

Local Fire Department Answers Several Calls Over Week End.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department was kept quite busy last week end with calls to fires, none of which were serious or the cause of much damage.

The first fire occurred in last Thursday night in the garage of the Engman property on Union and Hancock street, presently occupied by Henry Capdepon and family, which was extinguished in short order.

On Saturday morning at 2 o'clock a fire occurred aboard one of the fishing boats of the Marine Foods Co., Inc. local cannery, which caused little damage, but on which three men received painful, first degree burns. The three men, Joe Wilson and Gilbert Rousseau, both of Biloxi, and Elbert Ladnier, of Gautier, were taken to the local Kings Daughters Hospital for treatment and the two first named were discharged on Saturday afternoon, while Elbert Ladnier was discharged on Sunday.

The boat on which the fire occurred was the "Hyacinth."

A cottage at 318 St. Charles street occupied by a family named Bilbo also caught on fire and a call was received by the Fire Department, to which they promptly responded and in short time extinguished the fire with little damage to the property.

LOGTOWN CELEBRATES OPENING OF FIRST PAVED STREET IN AREA

Street Carnival Celebration Staged Under Auspices Logtown P. T. A.

The Logtown P. T. A. under the direction of its president, Mrs. Roy Baxter, staged a carnival and street dance Saturday night marking the opening of the first paved street for the town. Refreshment and amusement booths afforded entertainment for the large crowd and music was furnished by the Central High School Band of Bay St. Louis, from which place was noted a large delegation.

This hard-surfaced street in the city is the fruit of the efforts of the Board of Supervisors and federal project funds combined, and links the road to the county seat with the highway.

When we consider the completion of Bayou LaCroix new bridge and wide new highway from Bay St. Louis thru to McLeod's, at Jordan river, and the new steel bridge over the river nearing completion and soon to be open, hard-surfacing of roadways back and thru Waveland and to Logtown and other major improvements over Hancock we cannot but commend the Board for their enterprise and the vast amount of work they are accomplishing with limited funds.

Darby, Perkinson Junior College superintendent, was elected vice-president of the association, and another Coast man, Senator E. M. Ivy, Jackson county representative in the state legislature and superintendent of the St. Martin's school was elected as a member of the executive board.

Mrs. Nanie Gillis, McComb, by an amendment to the constitution permitting a member of the past president's group to serve on the executive committee, was also named on the executive board.

Dr. Florence Hale, Darien, Conn., editor of the Grade Teacher, and member of the board of trustees, told the association on Friday night, "A part of character is certainly respect for law, ability and desire to work hard for success, and courage to look oneself in the face and keep on in spite of handicaps."

The youth who goes out to make a place for himself today meets conditions different from those which most of us in our youth. Life is tense and strenuous, even though still full of opportunities. It is therefore important that these who are preparing young people to take their places in the world study these conditions intelligently and try to so teach that strong character, habits of thrift and industry, and ability both to employ leisure time wisely, and also to earn a living successfully may be developed. Children must learn to work, and discipline there must be, said Dr. Hale.

BABY BONDS TOO SUCCESSFUL!

A FEW years ago the Treasury Department offered for sale "Baby Bonds," designed to provide a savings medium for individuals.

The plan offered a bond, paying $100 in ten years, for $75. Sales steadily increased and more than $3,800,000,000 maturity value of the bonds have been sold.

In December the Treasury ruled that the bonds were permissible investments for pension funds and sales jumped upward by $40,000,000 a month. Then in January the regulations were changed to bar pension funds from buying the bonds.

Now, under another regulation, the Treasury decides not to permit corporations or institutional investors to buy the bonds. This will reduce sales by from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 in the next year. Individuals in this country, its possessions or temporarily abroad, will be permitted to buy the bonds.

Here we have the Treasury moving to stop the increased sale of the Baby Bonds, which threatened to provide all the money that the government required. Nearly one-third of the little bonds was being taken by big investors, such as institutions, trustees and corporations. In a word, the Baby Bonds were too successful!

GOODS CONTROL AND CROP CONTROL.

IT is interesting to read the strictures of industrialists upon the methods that farmers have adopted to control the production of crops.

This means particularly heinous to those who want cheap raw materials and many who make profits out of handling and processing raw materials from our farms.

In the United States we have a great industrial plant which produces manufactured goods just like farmers produce crops. In this nation we have millions of people who need the goods of industry as much as individuals want crops of agriculture.

Are our industrial plants humming to produce the goods that the people of the country would like to have? Not on your life; they are operating, as in 1939, to turn out barely half of the goods that they are capable of producing. The output is regulated, not by what the people can use, but what the people can buy.

With goods control in operation by industry it looks foolish for industrialists to complain about crop-control.

ELECTRICITY IN YOUR BRAIN.

SCIENCE is always developing theories and telling us new things. The other day the Federated Societies heard that there is a kind of electrical brain activity, produced by cells which build up an electrical charge and then flash miniature lightning bolt to adjoining cells.

We won't pursue the discovery much further at this time but the idea is worth watching. Maybe, in the years to come, a student, failing in his classes, will be able to go to a service station and get a supply of electricity that will set his brain to thinking.

Without reference to any person in this neighborhood we can imagine that there are many individuals who need some sort of miniature lightning in their heads. The only way they can be made to think is for some body to make it as easy to do as it is to sit down and rest.

At the recent bar examinations held by the State Bar Examiners twenty-three persons successfully passed the tests. The board of bar examiners is composed of R. M. Kelly, Vicksburg, Vice-President; W. H. Izner, Pontotoc, Secretary and Earle L. Wingo, Hattiesburg, president.

According to the Mississippi Forestry Commission citizens of our state were robbed of more than seven million dollars in 1938 by forest fires. This is an enormous amount of money to lose in any one year, especially since most forest fires are preventable and are generally due to carelessness.

When we read daily of traffic accidents and deaths on our highways the record made by the Commercial Air Lines of the United States, according to statistics just released the commercial air lines have completed twelve months without a fatal accident or serious injury to passengers or crew members. During this time the planes flew 814,906,250 passenger miles, and transported over two million passengers.

The Mississippi legislature is now in its fourteenth week since convening on January 2. Up to Tuesday, March 26th, there had been 184 bills enacted into law, and approved by the Governor. Of these 123 were house bills and 61 senate bills. Governor Johnson has vetoed three bills, viz: House bills 275, 288 and 329. Sixteen house concurrent and 4 senate concurrent resolutions have been passed. Of the 184 laws enacted by the legislature 67 are of a general nature, and 117 are what are known as local and private legislation.

The way to build business is to make it easy for customers to buy.

Life would be less depressing, sometimes, if the individual could do as he, or she, pleases.

NEEDED ON GULF COAST.

MISSISSIPPI is widening and straightening the fine highway along its Gulf Coast. Coast real estate has suffered, aside from excessive taxes, because of the narrowness and risks of this road. The new work will correct this.

All commercial and political bodies on the Coast should note the suggestion in recent item articles of a movement for a wide, straight, through highway in the rear of the beach. The Coast should prepare for two or three times its present population. It should gain new local and tourist traffic enough to use to capacity the new highway along the front. As it grows, its communications will again congest, unless it provides something like a four-lane highway in the rear, roughly paralleling the L. & N. tracks.

All trucks, most buses, and much local traffic, would use a highway, leaving the beach to pleasure-seekers and others who want to enjoy its beauties. Such an improvement would greatly aid to growth of the Coast. It could be done by Mississippi on a comparatively inexpensive basis now. As years pass great expense may be involved in getting right of way.

Coast citizens seem to have suffered from an inferiority complex in the past, instead of going to Jackson and pressing on state authorities the merits of this improvement. The Gulf Coast is Mississippi's greatest asset. Properly advertised and promoted, a series of towns and cities can be developed there like Miami and other flourishing Florida cities, and the prosperous purlieus of Southern California. Such a development would mean more in taxable values than that of forty or fifty Mississippi counties.

In the past, mayors and other coast authorities have shown great interest in the promotion of their section. They should now move to get highway facilities of the kind here indicated. A resort section seeking money from outsiders cannot allow trucks and business vehicles to crowd its scenic highway. It should provide facilities for such traffic.—New Orleans Item.

NEW HOUSES FOR OLD!

THE suggestion is being made this spring that most of us can get new houses for our old ones. Fire chiefs are explaining that anyone can make surprising home improvements with just a little effort. Spring Time is clean-up time.

The chiefs are interested in the safety angle, too. They recommend checking up on conditions in the cellar, saying that any burnable material that is becoming charred by radiated heat from the smokepipe, should be moved to a safe area or else properly insulated. Furnaces and stoves should be checked for broken or rusted parts and should be thoroughly cleaned. Chimneys should be inspected for cracks, the soot cleaned out, and hot ashes put into a metal container.

Don't overlook attics, closets and cellars; remove accumulations of paper, rubbish and any old and broken furniture. Clean up the yard and burn papers and trash in an incinerator. If you leave paint rags, oily waste, or cleaning mops' about, they may spontaneously ignite. Keep this dangerous material in a metal can with a tight cover.

Electric fuse boxes should be checked to make sure that the correct size fuse is used and that no burned-out fuses are bridged with a coin or piece of metal. All electrical work or extensions should be made by an expert electrician. Replace all worn or frayed cords on appliances. Let's make Spring Clean-up worthwhile this year. Get a new, safe house for an old, hazardous one!

TRYING TO TEACH TOO MUCH.

BRUCE Barton, advertising executive and member of Congress from New York, recently delivered some interesting observations upon the course of education.

He believes that education has been getting steadily worse in this country because "we are trying to spread out and teach too much and teach a smattering of everything." He thinks education was better in his father's time than in his time and better in his time than it is today.

Mr. Barton urges the study of Greek, Latin and mathematics for the neutral training necessary to a successful career in any field and emphasizes that there is "no substitute for work." Telling how he worked as a reporter for $3 a week on a weekly newspaper, he avers that the experience was a more valuable education than any year of classroom work, either in high school or college.

Not everybody will agree with Mr. Barton. Certainly, his suggestions are not perfect and will not produce the desired results in every case. Nevertheless they are interesting and provocative and for that reason they are worth reading and considering.

NOT FIGHTING TO ENTERTAIN.

REMINING critics that the Allies are fighting "not for the entertainment of other people but for their own lives." Oliver Stanley, British Secretary of State of War, suggests that neutrals let them fight it their own way. Referring to criticism in the United States because the Allies refused to coerce Norway and Sweden to permit troops to go to the aid of Finland, the British cabinet official found it hard to understand why his country should be criticized for observing the rights of smaller neutral powers.

So long as the people of the United States take the attitude that the European war is a contest between the conflicting ambitions for world hegemony they should not be interested in whether the Allies aid other nations or not. If we take the view that the safety of small nations is at stake and there is an obligation upon other nations to protect the smaller neutrals, then, unless we are willing to assume part of the burden, we should let those who carry the load pick their own way.

The Northeast Mississippi Livestock show will be held in West Point, April 16 through April 19. Twenty-two counties compose the livestock show and $2,864 in premiums will be awarded to owners of prize-winning cattle, hogs, work stock, sheep and poultry.

Senate Bill No. 94 approved on March 22, by Governor Johnson is of general interest to the public of our state, in that it tends to curtail and circumscribe the activities of loan sharks in Mississippi by making it possible for Mississippi banks to make personal loans to individuals under more liberal terms than hitherto has been possible under existing laws in the State of Mississippi. The law in no way repeals any of the usury laws now in effect in our state.

"Loosen up!"

IN DAYS BEFORE LETTERS OF CREDIT AND MONEY ORDERS ENABLED TRAVELERS TO CARRY FUNDS WITHOUT FEAR OF LOSS, BILLS AND COINS WERE CARRIED IN MONEY BELTS, THE HIGHWAYMAN'S COMMAND TO "LOOSEN UP" ADDED THIS PHRASE TO GENERAL USE.

IN OLDEN TIMES A WOMAN ENGAGED IN SPINNING HER WEDDING OUTFIT WAS KNOWN AS A SPINSTER. THEN THE WOOD CAME TO MEAN ONE WHO SPUN IN VAIN AND REMAINED IN SINGLE BLESSEDNESS.

Hollywood Notes.

If you get the feeling at a movie that somewhere, sometime you have seen the picture before, nine times out of ten you will be right because there seems to be a regular plague of re-makes coming out of Hollywood these days, some of them good and others not so good.

Deanna Durbin's next for Universal is to be "Spring Parade," which will be an Americanized version of a film which Joe Pasternak made in Budapest seven years ago. Gus Kahn, borrowed from Metro, will write English words for the Hungarian tunes written by Robert Stolz.

It takes a full three hours for Sonja Henie to get ready for an appearance before the cameras. Because technicians have found that her blond hair photographs better if it is washed daily. It must be washed every day to be on the set by eight o'clock the actress must arise not later than 4:45 a. m. Who said a star's life was a bed of roses?

Sara Haden who plays "Aunt Milly" the school teacher, in the Hardy family pictures, thought she, her mother and sister were the only living members of the Haden tribe. To her surprise, she has found that she has 500 cousins, many of whom live in Hadenville, Pa.

Gene Autry, who has heretofore spurned the lovely ladies, will take the lovely heroine in his arms and kiss her in the final fadeout of his latest film. He has also abandoned his effective six-shooter and will now depend upon his fists to get him out of all and sundry trouble.

Cary Grant, Brian Aherne and Claudette Colbert will probably appear in the movie version of "Reap the Wild Wind," by William LeBaron. Grant's role will be similar to that played by Clark Gable in "Gone With the Wind," and the scene of the story will be laid in Charleston, South Carolina. Life-size reproductions of Charleston and its water front will be made.

In order to please South American audiences, who think our fair Hollywood ladies "too frail," George O'Brien made a special trip to Argentina to locate some bigger and more buxom ladies to appear in films designed for the Latin-American market.

C. S. Forester, who wrote "Captain Horatio Hornblower," admits that his title was inspired by the name of Arthur Hornblow—producer-husband of Myrna Loy, when they met four years ago.

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, a very happily married couple, are insisting that the title of the picture in which they are to appear together be changed because "it's too much of a dare to the fates." The title is "I Want a Divorce." By the way, this couple have appeared together in eight movies and this will be their ninth—if the title is changed.

"The Mortal Storm," in which Margaret Sullivan and Jimmy Stewart are starred has been filmed with four endings: (1) has Miss Sullivan dying; (2) kills Stewart; (3) they both live; and (4) they both die. Now the studio can't decide which to use.

THOSE PASCAGOULA TOLLS.

(New Orleans Item)

AN item writer recently called attention to exorbitant tolls charged on the Pascagoula bridge. Any motorist from this side of Pascagoula must pay 50 cents each way to cross the bridge.

It is understood that Jackson county (Miss.) receives a very large revenue from these tolls. Hence there would be considerable opposition to abolishing them.

The bridge was worth the tolls when it was built. But today when it connects the main Gulfcoast highways between East and West the toll is exorbitant.

No one can tell how much tourist business this bridge keeps away from the Gulfcoast and New Orleans. At this season thousands of our people want to motor to Mobile and the Bellingrath Gardens, and others go on to Florida. A dollar out of pockets, above other expenses, must keep a good many from making the trip.

Jackson County, as well as all Gulfcoast business organizations should go after these tolls and get Mississippi to compensate its owners and abolish the charges.

Mississippi newspapers should agitate for this step until their state does something. For Mississippi now has fine modern highways and the opportunity to develop its tourist crop which will pay for them and also bring in a lot of money each year. It is not expedient to charge tourists exorbitant tolls likely to keep many of them from coming into the state.

CCC AND NYA

MUCH has been said on the floor of both bodies of the Congress during this session about retrenchment and economy. Particularly has the House indicated such a desire. During the past week however, the House, smarting under the increases that had been placed in the appropriation bills after they had passed the house did an about face and added substantial increase to the budget recommendations.

For instance it added $50,000,000 to the budget recommendation in the item of the CCC camps. If this increase is maintained in the Senate, which no doubt it will be, this means that there will be no closing down of any of the present CCC Camps. 273 camps eliminated would have meant the elimination of some 54,600 enrollees.

In the matter of the National Youth Administration, after a hot fight and much discussion, which largely centered around Aubrey Williams—the head of the N. Y. A.—the budget estimate was increased approximately $17,000,000.00.

However, when it came to the National Labor Relations Board the House not only sustained the budget but cut the appropriation some $300,000.00. It is difficult to say whether this cut on the N. L. R. B. was due to the disfavor of the Board with the congress or whether the cut was due to the administration of one of the divisions thereof—the economic division. This division is headed by Dr. Sappos. The testimony before the Appropriations Committee and the argument in the House tended to show that Dr. Sappos had communistic leanings if, in fact, he was not a communist.

We look forward to the return of the Fisks next winter.

GARDENS AND GARDENING

With the cold weather in the past, now has come the time to think about mulching to prevent heat from hurting some of the plants. Azaleas, camellias, hydrangeas and roses must have their roots protected from the kind of sun rays that will begin to beat upon them very soon. The old mulch that has been lying on the ground around the plants will probably have been beaten down into the soil and the plants will need a blanket of "protecting material from three to four inches deep.

In the case of azaleas whose roots are very fine and grow close to the surface of the ground, the old mulch had best not be disturbed.

Around roses, camellias or hydrangeas, it can be gently worked into the soil. If peat moss or oak leaves are used, they will continue to acidify the soil until they are completely decomposed.

When applying a fresh covering for summer, gardeners are cautioned not to heap the material up around the trunks of the plants, but to spread it out evenly. It is wise, so some experts say, to be sure to have this protective material cover all of the ground beneath the spread of the branches because the root spread that needs protection is about as extensive.

Peat moss, oak leaves, bagasse, pine needles are all used to mulch plants that like acid or neutral soils. They are not strong enough in acidity to satisfy the real acid lovers, but they help, and, with the addition of sulphur or its ammonium or aluminum compound, they are excellent conditioners. Most gardeners prefer peat moss or bagasse to leaves or needles because they show less tendency to mat. The roots of plants need both air and moisture and a thick, solid mass above them would be harmful, and because peat moss and bagasse are spongy, they have the power of retaining moisture and releasing it slowly for the benefit of the plants they cover. However, they being spongy, also have the power when dry to take up any moisture that may be in the ground around them. Therefore, when they are put down it is a good plan to soak them so that they will not rob the surrounding soil.

Mulches for plants of any kind have a wonderful way of offering weed protection. As one gardener expressed it "Instead of folding one self in two to pull up weeds while the hot sun boils you, cover the ground with some light mulch and smother weeds so that they fold up." Therefore, when long hot days make weeding and watering real problems, a mulch will help. Summer vacations or gardeners are easier on the plants they leave behind them if a mulch has been provided.

Blooming wisteria vines climbing high into trees and trailing over trellises and fences just now are at their height and can be seen in yards and gardens all over the city. In the rear of the John A. Green home there is a beautiful wisteria vine, probably one of the largest in the city, which completely covers a large cotton-wood tree. The yard about the Cagle home on Carroll avenue is pretty just now, and the large sloping garden of the Perre home on Citizen street is beautiful with a variety of plants and colors. Also the Pond garden in the rear of the home at South Beach and Ballentine street with its tulip and blue iris beds are colorful.

The beautiful dog-wood trees in full bloom grace the grounds of the Weinberg home on Hancock street, and the large collection of azalea plants in bloom on the grounds of the Al G. Shear home, with its variety of other plants are beautiful.

The moss draped oaks above the lawn and flower beds around the home of Mayor and Mrs. G. Y. Blaize and the garden about the Engman home, which there is a variety of blooming azaleas are a treat to the eye.

On the grounds about the Rolf home on Second and Court streets is a rare white wisteria tree, and another white wisteria can be seen climbing into a tree on the grounds of J. B. Goldman. A beautifully laid out plot on Court street which it is expected will be the setting for a new home is the one owned by Mr. and Mrs. Theo Tudury on which a number of evergreen and fruit trees are planted, together with beds of roses and camellia-japonicas.

The grounds before the Episcopal Church have recently been planted with azalea bushes and promises to be one of the pretty spots about town.

—"Paint the surface and save the wood" still not only holds good but is still practiced, according to the number of dwellings about town undergoing the touch of the brush. Clerk of the Courts A. G. The place has been fully and attractively completed and will serve as a place of attraction and pleasure for the spring and summer.

—Mr. Ortle, with his usual enterprise, seems to have left nothing undone. "Thousands of beautiful tulips are blooming over the city, many of the gardens radiant with the colors that seem to run riot with the primary colors so positive and vibrant in their respective shades. In a measure, not taking the credit away from purchasers of the bulbs and the real garden-lovers, Mr. Wallace Catchings, local horticulturist, is responsible for this as he imported the bulbs to Bay St. Louis and sold them at a most reasonable figure. This is first showing of bulbs on so large a scale in Bay St. Louis and it has proven a "thing of beauty and joy forever."

—Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Wolfe have successfully planned and realized a most attractive garden at their residence on Carroll avenue, near the beach front. Just now the grounds are radiant with a background of spirea (bridal wreath) interspersed with azaleas in fullest blossom and gorgeous color. The busy doctor finds his garden a source of recreation and takes a personal pride and working interest in its development. How well he has succeeded is best attested to by present appearance. Beautifying one's premises is a contribution to the "city beautiful" and it is hoped the Doctor's example will be followed extensively over the city and suburb.

Stanislaus Gardens Have 1600 Rose Bushes Ready to Blossom.

Making two blades of grass grow where only one grew is biblically commended and holds good to this very day and letter. Bro. Peter, president St. Stanislaus College, has 1600 rose bushes now growing in the front yard of college where formerly there were only a few.

Last year Bro. Peter had the south end of the college front garden landscaped and planted with some eight hundred rose bushes. So successful was this that he duplicated this plan and number on the north side. All plants were procured from Tyler, Texas. Bro. Peter claiming much quality for roses from that section. They are principally of the Radiance variety, but he has other kinds and particularly L'Etoile de Holland, a highly prized variety.

There is no doubt this is the largest rose garden on the Coast. Every bush is in labeled sections, and in manner that the visitor sees plainly each variety at sight.

Center trellis carry climbers. The manner of landscaping is Bro. Peter's, an idea he carried out successfully in Baton Rouge while there. Within a short time the sixteen hundred bushes will be in full bloom and there will be roses by the thousands. Combining beauty and the artistic with one's daily pursuit and affording so much joy to the public is a gesture of merit and exemplary in the fullest sense.

Personal and General

MR. AND MRS. SHEAR RETURN FROM WINTER AT MIAMI BEACH, FLA.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Shear returned home last Thursday night after an absence of three months spent at fashionable Miami Beach, Fla., winter play ground of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Shear report an unprecedented season of people and patronage. The wealth of the nation seemed to have gathered there this season, and many notables found a wonderful comeback, said Mr. Shear, who has visited there frequently, and it is remarkable how people are willing to pay the prices asked. Miami Beach, the swankiest, is the favorite with visitors.

It is here that practically every big store in America has a shop, and every nationally known night club and resort is represented, more elaborately, in fact, than the original. Only first run pictures are shown there at the theaters. The cheapest prices are matinee shows, at no less than 40 cents per person. After 6 o'clock the prices more than double and there are always full houses.

Lincoln Way is the swanky shopping street, said Mrs. Shear. More pretentious looking than the Fifth avenue shops of New York. Here one finds the finest clothes, latest styles and the diamond and other jewelry stores are represented by the biggest firm of that kind in the country. Even London stores have branch shops here. The demand is good, quality high and prices in keeping. People seemingly go there to spend and enjoy and do not fall in their pursuit.

"We enjoyed our stay very much," said this couple who seem to know how to get so much out of life, "but it was nice, after all, to get back to Bay St. Louis, especially since the spring weather has set in. And it might be said here Bay St. Louis is pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Shear back."

KERGOSIEN-DESTOR MARRIAGE AT LONG BEACH THURSDAY P. M.

Pleasantly surprising their friends Mr. Ogden Kergosien, of Bay St. Louis, and Miss Vania Destor, formerly of New Orleans, but a resident of Bay St. Louis the past few years, were married Thursday evening of last week at Long Beach, the Rev. Thomas Lilly, pastor, performing the simple and beautiful ceremony of the Catholic faith.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Destor who have made their permanent home the past few years since Mr. Destor's retirement from the drug business, well known for many years as proprietor and operator of his own place of business at Metairie, New Orleans. She is a lovely and accomplished young woman and popularly known with the younger set.

The groom is also popularly and widely known, a son of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Kergosien and highly connected with the oldest and representative families of Hancock county. He is an attendee of the Kergosien Beach Drug Store. A college graduate of St. Stanislaus, he is possessed with an engaging personality and is popular wherever known.

Mr. and Mrs. Kergosien have gone to housekeeping and leased the former home of Mrs. Sigerson, Main near corner Second street, where they are "at home" to their friends. Congratulations and good wishes go out to this happy young couple who have started life so auspiciously, in which good wishes The Echo heartily joins.

BRIDE-TO-BE BEING ENTERTAINED NUMEROUSLY.

Miss Florence Keen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Keen, whose wedding will be one of the prominent April weddings in New Orleans, is being entertained at a number of beautiful pre-nuptial parties. In New Orleans and Baton Rouge. Mrs. George Womack entertained on Saturday at a luncheon at her home in Baton Rouge for Miss Keen, and the Misses Katherine and May Bowling Cross also of Baton Rouge entertaining at a luncheon for Miss Keen, a supper party on Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Killia Huger, a luncheon on Saturday April 6th by Mrs. E. V. Richards; a buffet supper on Sunday, April 7th by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Donnaud and a supper on April 10th following the wedding rehearsed at Trinity Church by Mr. and Mrs. Yorke P. Nicholson at the Orleans Club.

NEW PROCESS FOR MAKING NEWSPRINT

A new method of producing newsprint, utilizing Southern gum semi-chemical pulp with pine ground-wood was reported a short time ago to the National Farm Chemurgic conference.

Dr. Carlile P. Winslow, director of the U. S. forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., said newsprint paper made by the new process on a laboratory scale equalled average commercial newsprint. Newsprint probably could be produced cheaper by this method than by the process used at the Lufkin, Texas, mill which manufactures newsprint from southern pine, he said. In addition, Dr. Winslow said, the new method enhances the prospect of a greater and more profitable use of farm woodlots in the South. Red and black gums constitute a major group among Southern hardwoods.

Knights of Columbus To Hold Initiation Sunday, May 5th.

Pere Le Duc Council of Knights of Columbus of Bay St. Louis will hold an initiation of members on the first Sunday of May, the 5th, at the K. C. Hall on Main street, when several out-of-town officers will be present and assist at the initiation. On Easter Sunday, Grand Knight Aiden Mauffray led the local council in approaching the communion rail when thirty-nine members received Holy Communion in a body at 7 o'clock mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.
